Hagerty Denies Reports of Promise by Ike

Says Nonsense to Akron Story, or Lodge To Replace Adams

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said today a report that President Eisenhower has promised to replace Sherman Adams as top aide in 1956 is "a lot of nonsense."

Hagerty made the comment when told a story of that nature was appearing today in the Akron, Ohio, Beacon-Journal.

At the same time, Hagerty described as "a lot of nonsense" another report that U. N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge is slated to replace Sherman Adams as top assistant to the President in the near future.

Hagerty met with reporters while President Eisenhower was sequestered at a private club as a duck-hunting guest of Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey about 14 miles from downtown Toledo.

Adams Under GOP Fire
The Akron story was to the effect that Mr. Eisenhower had promised high Republican leaders in a secret huddle that he will run for re-election in 1956.

It also said he promised to "reshuffle" the White House staff to bring in men with more political savvy.

"It's a lot of nonsense," Hagerty said in finality.

The story that Adams will be replaced by Lodge in the key White House post was attributed to Rep. Joseph L. Carrigg (R-Pa.).

Adams has been under fire from some old-line Republicans who believe that the former New Hampshire governor hasn't given politics enough consideration.

Hagerty reported that Mr. Eisenhower and his Cabinet members host were out in a duck blind, at the secluded Cedar Point Club on Lake Erie, at 8:30 a. m.

The outing was the President's first chance to go duck hunting since he entered the White House 23 months ago.

Reports of plenty of wildfowl in the marsh owned by the club gave Mr. Eisenhower reason to hope he could easily bag the four-duck limit.

Stag Hunting Party
There is no limit on ringneck pheasants, which the club also raises and releases for the sport of members and guests.

Mr. Eisenhower flew to Toledo Thursday night from his Abilene, Kans., home town where he dedicated a new museum housing his trophies and souvenirs as "a shrine to the future citizens of a great and glorious America."

Humphrey and other members of the stag hunting party met him at the airport. They drove immediately to the unpretentious white frame lodge of the club, about 20 miles from the airport.

Besides the President and Humphrey, the hunting party included Milton S. Eisenhower, brother of the President, Gilbert W. Humphrey, son of the Secretary, and George Love, a partner of Humphrey in the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company.

The present outing ends with a flight back to Washington Saturday afternoon. That will get him home in plenty of time to help his wife, Mamie, celebrate her 58th birthday Sunday.

Strive for Peace, Dennis Urges in Veterans Day Talk

Legionnaire and County Judge-elect Trafton Dennis yesterday said that peace is a concept and ideal that all should strive for and that we should not give up on the idea of a lasting peace.

Dennis spoke from the south porch of the court house at the first Veterans Day ceremony, sponsored by the Harrisburg posts of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. A handful of people was present to hear his remarks.

"We must be strong at this time and maintain these measures of strength until we get a lasting peace," Dennis stated, and declared that in order to gain such a peace, we must have a free exchange of ideas, ideals and religions.

"We must have a knowledge and acquaintance of all people the world over—only then can we hope to understand them," he stated.

The ceremony began promptly at 11 a. m. with James Gwaltney, department adjutant of the Illinois Department, American Legion, the master of ceremonies. The invocation and benediction were by the Rev. W. L. Cummins, pastor of the First Methodist church.

Gwaltney explained that it was the first Veterans Day holiday since the changeover from Armistice Day.

Following the speaking the Firing Squad composed of both Legion and VFW members fired a salute and LeRoy Cox played Taps.

James Arthur Moore was general chairman of the program.

Allies to Test Sincerity Of Malenkov's Views Cold War Tension Be Eased

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and its allies planned early moves today to test Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov's professed view that the East-West cold war has gone too far.

The tests will range all the way from watching the treatment of Western diplomats and their families in Moscow to probing Soviet policy on plane incidents in the Far East and Red strategy on Germany and Austria.

American officials from President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on down are interested in Malenkov's expressed desire to prevent war and work toward normal relations through diplomatic channels. But officials said the Russian leader's matched by Russian deeds.

In both actions and words, "Mr. Eisenhower has shown his intense desire to do everything possible to avoid any steps toward a possible A-bomb war with the East. If sincere, Malenkov's views, as expressed to Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen in Moscow Sunday, are assured of a thorough but guarded consideration at the White House.

The first American test will be a new note to Moscow on the destruction six days ago of a U. S. B-29 plane by the Russians. The note will make the usual claims for compensation and reject Moscow charges the United States was at fault and, in addition, take a new step by acknowledging a seeming Russian offer to take measures to prevent further incident.

In about two weeks, the United States, Britain and France will give Malenkov's words a bigger test. An Allied note under preparation in London will leave the door open for four-power talks on Germany and remind the Russians that their approval of an Austrian treaty would be a major boost for peace.

The Russian response to the Big Three note and the reply to the plane incident note will be of unusual interest, diplomats said.

Says Weapons Work of AEC is Not Impaired

Chairman Testifies At Hearing by Congress Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission testified today the atomic weapons program is expanding at an unprecedented rate and has not been hurt by the Dixon-Yates feud.

Testifying before the congressional Atomic Energy Committee on the controversial power contract signed Thursday, Strauss was asked about the effect of the issue on the weapons program.

"There has never been a degree of expansion in our production comparable to that which we are presently enjoying," he said.

Anderson Raises Question
Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.), an outspoken critic of the Dixon-Yates contract, raised the question of whether the controversy has affected the weapons program.

"In my opinion it has not," Strauss said, and added that a "misleading impression" to that effect has been conveyed to the public.

That was an implied rebuke to AEC Commissioner Thomas E. Murray. He testified at a stormy session last Saturday that the contract fight has "diverted" the commission from its primary job of staying ahead of the Soviet in weapons development.

Anderson, who commented that he is a frequent visitor to the atomic installation at Los Alamos in his home state, indicated that he shared Strauss' view that the weapons work of the commission has not been impaired.

The committee hearing was held on the administration's request that the committee waive the requirement which subjects such contracts as the Dixon-Yates proposal to a 30-day review while both houses of Congress are in session.

Expect Favorable Vote
Democrats made it clear they are still out to scuttle the proposal. Rep. Melvin Price (D-Ill.) said the contract "will be killed" outright when the new Democratic Congress convenes in January.

Republicans were quick to defend the agreement. Chairman W. Sterling Cole (R-NY) of the House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee and Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa.), a member of the committee, said changes in the contract make it considerably "more favorable" to the government.

He said he expects to get at least a 10 to 8 vote in favor of the waiver when the committee considers the issue—perhaps Saturday. That would be a committee roll call on party lines.

Officer Charged With Treasonable Offenses as POW

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP) — Army Maj. Ambrose H. Nugent, Merrill, Wis., was charged today with committing treasonable offenses while a prisoner of war in Korea.

An announcement from the Fort Sill Public Information Office stated:

"Maj. Ambrose H. Nugent, age 44, Merrill, Wis., this morning was informed of charges made against him alleging violation of the 96th Article of War and the 134th Article of the Uniform Code of Military Justice while a prisoner of war in North Korea.

"Maj. Nugent, a member of a 24th Division unit at the time of his capture, was a prisoner from July 5, 1950, to Sept. 1, 1953. He arrived at Fort Sill in mid-November, 1953."

Seven specifications were mentioned alleging violation of the 96th Article of War and six specifications alleging violation of Article 134 of the Uniform Code.

Stennis, a member of the special committee which recommended censure of McCarthy, said McCarthy's first words in the Senate in the censure debate this week "were a continuation of the slush and slime that's been poured over other committees."

Stennis was the first Democrat to deliver a full-dress speech in the censure debate. And it was the most impassioned speech against McCarthy so far. McCarthy was not seen in the chamber when Stennis began speaking.

He said McCarthy's "good work" fighting communism "does not license him to destroy other good work or other members of the Senate."

Urges Censure
The Mississippi Democrat urged the Senate to censure McCarthy for his "abuse of witnesses" and "moral contempt" of the Senate.

Earlier, Sen. Herman Welker read to the Senate a letter in which a member of the censure committee described Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker as having been "evasive and resentful."

Author of the letter, Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.), told the Senate he had changed his mind about Zwicker after the general testified before the censure group.

Welker (R-Idaho) read from a photostat of a handwritten letter sent by Johnson to a "Dear David," dated Aug. 28.

Challenges Record
The letter said, "I agree with you also that Zwicker and some of the other men in uniform were evasive and resentful" when testifying before McCarthy.

After Welker read the letter—with an assist from Johnson on a word he couldn't decipher—the Colorado Democrat arose and conceded that he wrote it.

Changed His Mind
"It is true that on Aug. 28 I had a strong feeling that Zwicker had been evasive, arrogant and not entirely frank when interrogated by Senator McCarthy," Johnson said.

"However, Zwicker testified at length" before the censure committee on Sept. 13, he said.

"I got a different slant from Zwicker," Johnson told the Senate. Welker disclosed the letter as the Senate debated the censure resolution for the third day.

Youngsters Bounced From Capitol Dome

SALEM, Ore. — (UP)—Youngsters can't go atop the dome of Oregon's capitol any more unless accompanied by adults because too many of them risked their lives and annoyed motorists.

Several children were caught climbing to the top of the guard rail and throwing marbles at passing cars. A marble thrown from the dome to the street level 128 feet below could well shatter a windshield and cause a serious accident. Some youngsters were even caught attempting handstands atop the guard wall.

Ohio River Freight Rose During 1953

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Freight tonnage moved on the Ohio river in 1953 set an all-time record for that busy waterway, Col. John L. Pedson, chief of engineers in the Ohio river division, reported.

The 1953 figure was 62,034,303 tons, a gain of 11 per cent over 1952.

The busiest port on the river, beating out Pittsburgh, Pa., for the first time, was Huntington, W. Va., which cleared a total tonnage of 11,045,692, compared with Pittsburgh's 10,949,548 tons.

Following were Rochester, Pa., with 8,165,505 tons; Cincinnati, O., with 7,699,847; and Louisville with 5,317,009 tons.

Persons said half the tonnage was in coal, with petroleum, steel and chemicals making up most of the rest.

Nationalists Hit Independent Status for Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa — A Nationalist Chinese Foreign Office source branded as "ridiculous" today reported Anglo-American plans to neutralize Formosa as an independent state.

"I can not believe that the United States would sell Nationalist China down the river just like that," the high-ranking source said. "The entire idea is ridiculous."

A London report said Thursday that U. S. and British diplomats had discussed the possibility of setting up an "independent state of Formosa."

The report said the British, who previously had favored U. N. trusteeship for Chiang Kai-Shek's island bastion, were not opposed to the independent state idea and that it had gained some support in Washington.

THE STORY: Greg Seaver, 26, says he is much more interested in the present than in the future. That's why he wants to give up the relative security of working for his stepfather and do something on his own. In response to his advertisement, Greg meets Wade Daggett, a crippled invalid, who confesses he too is tired of sitting in a chair and has an idea how to break the monotony for both of them.

Greg watched Wade Daggett in concern, saying in his mind, "Take it easy, boy. Take it easy." "My idea was to get in the car and just start out. See what we can find. I'm not sure we can do it, of course. After a certain age you don't see much you aren't ready to see. We can't tell until we try. But there are things going on somewhere."

"What kind of things?" Greg asked with native caution. "I don't know." For a moment Daggett sounded forlorn, a very neat, plump old man, helpless in his chair, with a big vibrant voice. He ran the fingers of his good hand over the chair arm and then they gripped it hard. "You see, it's not much of a job. You'd have to be a chauffeur, attendant, and listen to the old man talk. I don't need a lot of waiting on, but some. I don't know—well, there it is. Eighty a week and expenses. I don't suppose it would appeal to you. Don't hesitate to say so."

Greg looked at it through his stepfather's eyes: an end to his job with Crain's Canned Cornbread and the hope of being vice president and eventually put out to pasture on a pension. A chauffeur. An attendant on a sick old man.

He looked at it through his own eyes, which was more difficult to do. He was so accustomed to seeing what people pointed out to him that he did not know how a picture really looked. Perhaps it was time he found out.

"Have you planned an itinerary," he asked, "or shall we just follow our noses?" His conscience gave an outraged yelp and abandoned him.

Daggett hitched himself up straighter in his chair. A smile tugged at his twisted mouth. "There's a place I own in the West. I was born there. I've been thinking of it a lot. A rugged sort of place, not much like this." His good hand indicated the impersonal living room.

"In a way it died before it ever got off to a good start. And yet, looking back, it seems to me it had a sort of—for a dead place I'll wager good money it's still more alive than those grapius of yours."

Greg realized that he was afraid to go back, afraid to measure the Even so, he had to become accustomed to liberty little by little. He wore so many invisible shackles imposed by his dominating stepfather, his mother, his tiresome conscience, his lack of faith in himself, his distrust of any novelty, that he approached the unknown as cautiously as a lame man does an icy sidewalk.

He had toyed with the idea of a last-minute telephone call to his mother or even a letter after he was gone. Instead, he made his confession face to face, which was the hard way. He went to Montclair, brushed and neat, wearing the dinner jacket on which his mother insisted. He was glad there were no guests.

"I've resigned at the office," he blurted out in one long breath to his mother and his stepfather.

"But, Greg, darling," Millicent Crain protested. At 45 Millicent was something of a miracle. She was more nearly beautiful than she had been at 30 and she did not look much older. Her hair, with a little assistance, was still dark, her wide brown eyes were appealing, her nose small, her mouth full, her shoulders creamy in a strapless crimson velvet dress.

Her manner was a shade more girlish than it had been 10 years before.

Behind the voice, which was plaintive and youthful, she was saying silently, "How could you do this to me?"

"Why?" Horace Crain asked. "Because I didn't like it." "Why didn't you discuss it with me first?" "My mind was made up. There wasn't anything to say, really." (To Be Continued)

Back Seat Driver Can Serve Good Purpose

PHILADELPHIA — (UP)—The Keystone Automobile Club suggests a legitimate function for the "back seat driver."

The club says the person riding in the back should call the driver's attention to the hazards of turning his head to talk to his traveling companions while operating the car.

Edward P. Curran, safety director of the club, says the driver who takes his eyes off the road to gaze at companions for "just a second" is actually driving blind over 58 feet of road at 40 miles per hour, 86 feet at 45 and 73 feet at 50.

BELMONT, N. H. — (UP)—Authorities here are looking for a bird that disregarded fire laws and failed to obtain a building permit.

The bird built a nest on top of a street lamp and the twigs kindled after the power was turned on. Robert Leroux, an off-duty fireman, was first to spot the smoke. He knew flames might damage wires, but he didn't have a ladder handy. Leroux called his station and an alarm was sounded. However, before apparatus arrived, a neighbor came out with a ladder and the blaze was extinguished.

The bird fled.

Casey's Widow Tells of Jones' Immortal Run

By JOE McDAVID
United Press Staff Correspondent
JACKSON, Tenn. — (UP)—Thousands of persons will argue there was no such person as Casey Jones, the famed engineer. They say he was a product of legend.

"They're nuts," said his widow, Mrs. Casey Jones, a small grey-haired woman just recently turned 87, still lives here, but not in the house she once shared with the engineer immortalized in song.

Several months ago, Mrs. Jones fell and injured her hip. She now is in one of Jackson's nursing homes and Mrs. Ruth Ballew, head of the home, said Mrs. Jones has a long fight before she will be able to walk again.

"But she never complains," said Mrs. Ballew. "She is an inspiration for all."

It has been more than half a century since Casey Jones highballed his way through an early morning mist into immortality. He was killed April 29, 1900, near Vaughn, Miss.

"Casey wasn't even supposed to be the engineer on that run," his widow said.

She explained that he had pulled into Memphis the night before, dead tired from his regular run. When the engineer who was to take over the Illinois Central's "Cannonball Express" became ill, Casey volunteered to fill in.

Jones left Memphis one hour and 35 minutes late on the 188-mile route to Canton, Miss., vowing, "I'm going to run her till she leaves the rail, or make it on time with the southbound mail."

Mrs. Jones said that when the "Cannonball" plunged into a line of boxcars stalled on the track, Casey was only two minutes off the regular schedule.

Ballad Gave Fame
She was at home, hanging out clothes when a neighbor came by. "I asked her what she was doing, calling so early," Mrs. Jones recalled. "I said, 'Is anything wrong with my husband?" And then I knew."

Sim Webb, the fireman with Casey on his last run, survived the crash and now works as a bricklayer in Memphis.

Casey probably would have been no more legendary a hero than other engineers who have died at the throttle if it weren't for the ballad, the work of Wallace Saunders, an engine-wiper Casey had befriended.

The train that carried Casey to his death was an old "iron horse," full of smoke, grime and grit.

Before she became ill, Mrs. Jones was guest of honor at an exhibition of the latest in railroading equipment.

"I only wish Casey could be here," she said. "But I don't know what he would think of all these new diesels, the 'astra-domes' and stuff."

One Way to Make Over Troublesome Golf Course

CONCORD, N. H. — (UP)—Somebody went out on the municipal golf course here to practice his swing at night — with an axe.

And now, a hazard that plagued golfers for years is gone.

Many a hacker had cussed the pine tree to the right of and a few yards in front of the fifth tee. Thousands of drives had ricocheted off the pine.

That is, until an unknown golfer came back to the course after dark and apparently decided to "get revenge" for poor scores. He hacked down the tree.

Wonder what his scoreboard shows these days.

Mrs. Geneva Mitchell Speaks On Mentally Retarded Children To Harrisburg B&PW Club

The Harrisburg Business and Professional Women's club met at the First Christian Church Tuesday evening. The meeting was opened with the singing of the National Anthem and with the "Pledge to the Flag" led by Miss Irene Beasley, national security chairman.

A thanksgiving prayer was offered by Miss Iris Craggs, and roll call was answered by the members stating the things for which they were thankful. Miss Meriam Evans, president, presided over the business session.

Miss Craggs, chairman of public affairs, was in charge of the program during which time she conducted a quiz on "Rating Your Town" which was quite instructive and interesting.

Mrs. Geneva Mitchell, a member of the club and treasurer of the Saline County Association for Mentally Retarded Children, was the speaker for the evening. She stated that the retarded children are often the "secret child" on your block as three out of every one hundred people in every community are afflicted with one of the most tragic yet least understood of all handicaps—mental retardation. This affliction, she added, is not caused by heredity but by an injury to the brain or nervous system before birth, at the time of birth or shortly after birth.

Mrs. Mitchell said that the purpose of the organization is to educate the public to the meaning and implications of mental retardation and to gain support for their solution. She concluded by saying that it is estimated that 120,000 retarded children will be born in the United States this year and that it is a huge problem, though not a hopeless one; that with adequate training many mentally retarded children can be trained to work successfully.

November 14-23 has been set aside as National Retarded Children's Week. The purpose of the fund raising drive is to help the public to understand the retarded child and to finance the program which serves these "children limited." It was announced that Roy Graham from the office of public instruction will speak on Nov. 16 to the Harrisburg Kiwanis club.

The December meeting of the club will be the annual Christmas party at which time club pals will be revealed. The officers of the club and the "nit wit" will be the hostesses.

First Baptist Pauline Moore Circle Has Program on Rhodesia

Miss Barbara Fearheiley was hostess to the Pauline Moore circle of the First Baptist church Tuesday evening.

New officers were installed in a lovely candlelight ceremony by Mrs. Loren Butler who chose as her theme "Christ Our Light."

The newly installed president, Mrs. Ronnie Ziegler, opened the meeting, and the minutes of the October meeting were read by the secretary.

During the business meeting missionary books to be read were displayed, and a year book of the Baptist W.M.U. was given to each member.

The program chairman, Mrs. Charles Swaney, was in charge of the program entitled "New Roads in South Rhodesia." Topics were given by Mrs. George Aud, a new member, Miss Fearheiley, Mrs. Junior Sowels, Mrs. Ziegler and Mrs. Pat Gilley.

Scripture readings were taken from Psalms, Chronicles and Matthew. The songs "Our Best" and "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" were sung.

The missionary chapter from the book "Dauntless Women" was presented by Mrs. Donald Boyd.

The hostess served delicious chocolate cake, ice cream, and coffee to the following: Mrs. Donald Boyd, Mrs. Charles Swaney, Mrs. Glen Gibbs, Mrs. Gene Sandage, Mrs. Ronnie Ziegler, Miss Marcustine Miller, Mrs. George Aud, Mrs. Pat Gilley, Mrs. Loren Butler, Mrs. D. H. Hiller and Mrs. Junior Sowels.

St. Ann's Altar Society Plans Annual Dinner at St. Mary's on Nov. 17

Forty women were present at the regular monthly meeting of St. Ann's Altar society of St. Mary's Catholic church held Wednesday evening in the church hall.

The meeting was opened and closed with prayer by Rev. T. G. Bruns and the business meeting which followed was conducted by Mrs. Mildred Dennis, president. Most of the time was spent in making plans for the annual fall dinner and bazaar which will be held Wednesday, Nov. 17.

Mrs. W. I. Reynolds, reporting for the sick committee, announced that during the month following the last meeting there had been sent three cheer cards, two condolence cards, one birth card and 21 visitations had been made.

Mrs. J. J. Klein read a letter from the man whose family is residing in West Germany are receiving the money being sent each month from this parish in the "Adopt a Family" program. He is the father of nine children and is in a Tubercular sanitarium. Mrs. Klein interpreted the letter from German in which it was written.

The society voted to serve a dinner in January to the operators and employees of the General Telephone company from Harrisburg and Eldorado and to serve a breakfast in December to the men of the Holy Name society in their regular communion Sunday.

For the devotion Mrs. Lena Kezley led in the recitation of the Rosary.

Mrs. Leo Richmond, chairman for the evening, conducted a charade depicting the months of the year which produced much merriment.

Refreshments of pumpkin pie and coffee were served by the committee. Mrs. John Lockwood, Mrs. F. W. Christman, Mrs. Ida Mitsdarffer, Mrs. W. E. Moore, Mrs. Marie Koester, Mrs. Lawrence George, Mrs. Amelia Aaron, and Mrs. Viola Tanner.

Delta Alpha Chapter Holds Regular Meeting

The Delta Alpha chapter of Delta Theta Tau held its regular business meeting Monday evening, Nov. 8, in the club room of the public library.

The meeting was conducted by the president, Marian Humm. The money-making chairman, Mildred Ruth Anderson, reported the progress being made on the birthday calendars, and stated that anyone wishing to have their birthday or advertising in the calendar should call 1486-R or 987-R.

At a previous meeting the sorority donated $200 to the industrial drive, $100 to the Santa Claus Fund, and $25 to the Salvation Army drive. These donations were made possible through receipts from the birthday calendar, the sorority's money-making project each year.

Minister Admits Killing His Hunting Companion
BLAIRSVILLE, Ga. — A 46-year-old Baptist minister confessed today through his attorney that he accidentally shot to death a hunting companion seven days ago and preached his funeral while police sought the killer.

Atty. Jack G. Tarpley said the Rev. Carl Brewer, pastor of four rural churches, told him that "because of fear of the consequences and shock" he did not immediately admit his part in the death of Alvin Towe, 40, a farmer who is the father of eight small children.

Lt. Woody Wilson of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation said no official action in the case was contemplated pending outcome of a coroner's investigation.

The attorney said the minister told him that he and Towe became separated at about 11:30 a. m. on Nov. 5, the first day of the deer season.

The statement said that at about 2 p. m. Brewer fired at a squirrel running up a tree. Going to retrieve the animal, Brewer discovered he had shot Towe, the statement said.

U. S. Launches Talks on Aid For Yugoslavia

WASHINGTON — The United States launched important economic talks here today with Yugoslavia, now the object of a fierce East-West tug of war.

Yugoslavia is expected to seek surplus American grain to offset a wheat deficit resulting from last summer's drought and other American help to bolster her economic position. The United States has not made up its mind yet what it can or should do to help the Balkan anti-Russian power.

The State Department said only that the talks will involve an "informal exchange of views on a broad range of economic problems of common interest."

Officials said no written or formal agreements will be made during the course of the discussions. But they made it clear the talks likely will lay the groundwork for decisions on aid to Yugoslavia which may follow shortly after the discussions.

Heading the Yugoslav delegation is Gen. Svetozar Yukmanovic, vice president of the nation's Federal Executive Council and Yugoslavia's top economic official. The American participants were led by Foreign Aid Director Harold E. Stassen and Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr.

After the discussions, which are expected to last about three days, Yukmanovic and his party plan to visit agricultural and industrial points of interest in the Midwest.

Lar Daly to Ask Supreme Court to Void Illinois Races
CHICAGO — Lar Daly, leader of the America First Party, planned to fly to Washington today to ask the U. S. Supreme Court to void three races in the Nov. 2 Illinois election.

Daly said he would file a petition for a writ of certiorari with the court.

Daly said in a statement, "The deliberate refusal of a clerk in the Illinois secretary of state's office to accept the America First Party petition of Aug. 16, 1954, constituted the most flagrant travesty of justice in Illinois political history."

Therefore, he said, he would ask the U. S. Supreme Court to declare the election void "as it pertains to the offices of United States senator, state treasurer and state superintendent of public instruction, the three offices for which the America First Party filed candidates."

Daly, who was the party's candidate for senator, said the party's petition contained 28,000 signatures.

In a letter to the American Bible Society, Mr. Eisenhower endorsed the group's annual worldwide Bible reading program which takes place between Thanksgiving and Christmas each year.

Acquitted Ex-Starlet to Wed Fourth Husband

MIAMI, Fla. — A former movie starlet acquitted Thursday of murdering her third husband planned today to wed a 70-year-old former lieutenant governor of Indiana.

Mrs. Jean Stratton Zint, 31, a shapely strawberry blonde, said her fourth husband would be wealthy Frederick Harold Van Orman of Evansville, Ind.

She dined with Van Orman Thursday in celebration of her acquittal in her first degree murder trial for shooting to death her Chicago industrialist husband, Charles Zint, 53.

Mrs. Zint, a former movie bit player, sported a very wide ring, set with 28 diamonds, which she said "Harold gave me about 3 or 3½ months ago."

"Yes, it's true, Harold and I plan to marry," she told a reporter.

"In the past we've made mistakes. We want to start life all over again together," Mrs. Zint said.

Van Orman, a wealthy hotel owner, said he was in Miami to look over a hotel he may buy.

In Evansville, Mrs. Kitty Van Orman, who is still married to the former GOP lieutenant governor, said "there's absolutely no truth" in reports that her husband planned to marry Mrs. Zint, the former Jean Stratton of Chicago and Louisville, Ky.

Mrs. Van Orman, a former circus performer, said Thursday night, "I talked to my husband about 8 p. m. tonight, and there's absolutely no truth in it. I think she (Mrs. Zint) wants some publicity."

Launch New Guided Missile

NORFOLK, Va. — America's newest secret weapon—a needle-nosed, supersonic guided missile—was launched at sea successfully Thursday from the converted battleship USS Mississippi, the Navy announced today.

Adm. Jerauld Wright, commander in chief of the Atlantic Fleet, said the launching of the deadly anti-aircraft missile "Terrier" was witnessed by Asst. Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles; Adm. Robert P. Carney, chief of naval operations; Vice Adm. Robert P. Bruce, deputy chief of naval operations; Rear Adm. Harold Baker, commander operational development force; and Rear Adm. Malcolm F. The slim missile is designed to intercept aircraft at much longer reaches and higher altitudes than conventional anti-aircraft weapons under any conditions of visibility.

The "Terrier" is capable of being fired from either ship or ground station. Tests on its firing were started in 1952 at the Naval Ordnance Station, Inyokern, Calif.

Bull Dogs Beat Benton, 12-7, in Season's Finale

Eagles Finish Season with 34-21 Victory

Roll to Net Gain Of 379 Yards To Beat Fairfield

Eldorado's Eagles put the finishing touches on a winning football season last night at Fairfield, trouncing the Mules 34-21.

Flashing their best offensive of the season, Eldorado rolled to twenty first downs and had a net gain from scrimmage of 379 yards. Of this total, 26 yards were gained by passing, the rest by running.

Eldorado found the Fairfield defense rather easy to penetrate, but couldn't come up with a defense to stop a fine running fullback by the name of Smith. Smith and an end named Van Buskirk were outstanding throughout the game for Fairfield and kept the game from being more lopsided.

For Eldorado it was strictly a team victory, everyone coming up with some outstanding play and ball carrying honors were well divided between Sutton, Gwaltney, Potts, Vogel and Stroke, with Clark quarterbacking the unit.

Eldorado scored early in the game, then had the attack to stall through the remainder of the half and at intermission the score was 7-7 as Fairfield had scored late in the second quarter.

Fairfield scored a TD in each of the last two quarters and Eldorado had two touchdowns in each of the periods as both outfits threw defense to the winds and concentrated on scoring.

Eldorado counted in the first three minutes of the game, gaining possession of the ball when Potts grabbed a Mule pass on the 50 and carried back to the 35. Four plays gained 16 yards, then Clark tossed a pass to Whittier for a score. Sutton ran for the point.

Late in the second quarter Fairfield tied the game, the TD coming on a pass to Van Buskirk. Meador kicked the point.

Fairfield went ahead in the third quarter when Smith raced 55 yards from an extreme spread formation. Meador again kicked the point.

Eldorado roared back. The Eagles came right back with a TD. The ball was put in play on the 40 and in seven plays the Eagles counted. Gwaltney and Sutton did most of the ball carrying, with Vogel helping along the way and going the last three yards for the score. The point try failed.

Eldorado scored again in a hurry after getting the ball when Stroke recovered a Mule fumble. Sutton scored the TD and Vogel kicked the point.

Fairfield went ahead for the last time in the early minutes of the last frame, Holmes carrying over for the TD and Meador kicked his third point in as many tries.

Eldorado roared back. Putting the ball in play on their own 35 the Eagles rolled 65 yards in 12 plays, with Gwaltney getting the TD and coming back to run for the point.

The final touchdown was also scored by Gwaltney and Potts carried for the point.

The score was a repeat of two years ago when Eldorado went to Fairfield on Nov. 11 and picked up a 34-21 victory.

This closed out the active part of the Eagle football season, with only the annual letter-awarding banquet remaining. It is set for Nov. 30.

Eldorado scored six wins over Anna, Metropolis, Harrisburg, West Frankfort, Marion and Fairfield. Decisions were dropped to Benton, Carmi and Cairo.

Eldorado's starting offensive lineup had Lyon and Whittier ends; Putnam and W. Laffoon tackles; Roberts and Lovellette guards; B. Laffoon, center; Clark, quarterback; Potts and Stroke halfbacks and Vogel fullback.

Expect Majors To Boost Draft Price to $15,000

NEW YORK — Major league owners are expected to heed the unguished appeals of their minor league associates by increasing the draft price to $15,000 per player at the annual winter meetings next month.

The amendment, prepared by Commissioner Fred Frick's specially appointed committee of nine major and minor league executives also would permit the drafting of three players instead of one from each club. Under the current rule, the top price is $10,000 and only one player can be taken from each club.

The amendment will be the No. 1 item on the agenda at the minor league meetings at Houston, Tex., on Dec. 2 and again at the major league meetings in New York the following week.

Galatia Beats Broughton, 28-22, in Midget Loop Contest

In Midget conference basketball play Galatia won from Broughton last night, 28-22. This marked the fourth consecutive conference victory for the Galatia cagers.

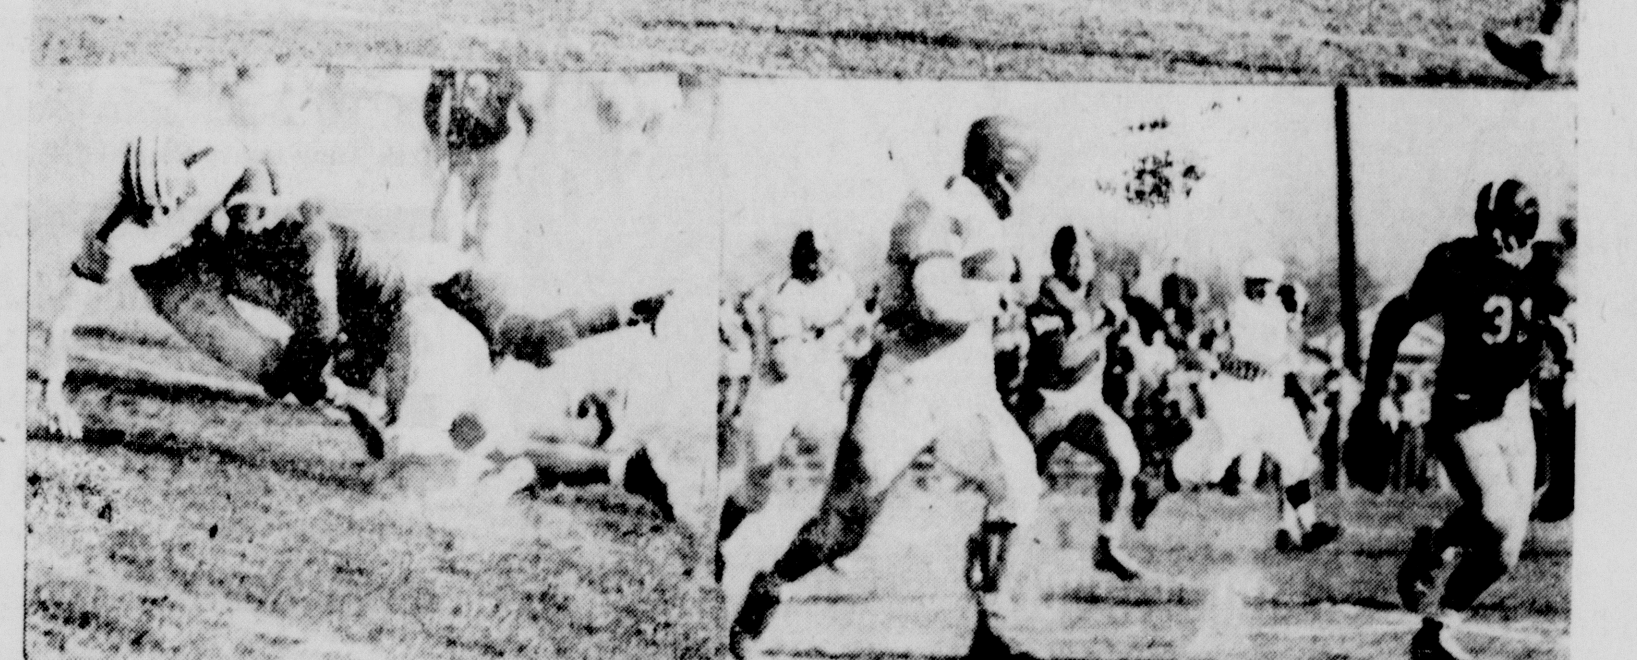

In the preliminary game Galatia was also the winner, 29-25.

Wednesday at Carrier Mills the home team won from Dorrisville in a league contest, 36-26.

This was Dorrisville's third start and second loss in the conference.

TOUCHDOWN!—With only seconds to go before the half ended, with the Bull Dogs behind Benton 7 to 0, the HTHS boys worked the ball down the field and Charles Polk, quarterback sneaked over for the first six points for the locals in the Veterans' Day game Thursday. Action in the picture typifies that exhibited during the entire game.

Arkansas Favored to Win Cotton Bowl Bid; OSU Choice to Defeat Purdue

By United Press

Arkansas' surprising Razorbacks are favored to win the Southwest Conference's bid to the Cotton Bowl Saturday while Ohio State, Oklahoma and Yale are expected to clinch ties for the Big Ten, Big Seven and Ivy League titles.

Arkansas, which was supposed to be a "patsy" when the season started, has been installed as a seven-point favorite over SMU at Fayetteville, Ark. A victory would enable the Razorbacks to clinch the Southwest Conference title and the automatic Cotton Bowl bid that goes with it.

Ohio State, meanwhile, is a seven-point choice to defeat Purdue at Lafayette, Ind., and thereby clinch at least a tie for the Big Ten crown. The Buckeyes then would be able to win the Conference invitation to oppose Southern California in the Rose Bowl by beating Michigan on Nov. 20.

Oklahoma, ranked third in the nation behind UCLA and Ohio State, is favored by 20 points to beat Missouri at Norman, Okla., while Yale is a 13-point choice over Princeton. The edge of possible bowl competition is missing from these games, however, because Oklahoma is ineligible even if it wins the Big Seven title and Yale does not play post-season games.

Cincinnati is favored to beat Wichita and retain its unbeaten and untied status along with Ohio State, UCLA, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

Suffers Serious Bullet Wound Near Centralia

CENTRALIA, Ill. — Bert Chiffon, Chicago, was in serious condition in a hospital here today with a bullet lodged near his spine while police sought to determine how he was shot Thursday night.

Marion County State's Atty. Basil Wilson said police arrested Angelo Lodato, about 35, who gave no permanent address, and a warrant will be issued against him for assault with intent to kill. Wilson said he was unable to question Chiffon about the shooting because of his condition. Doctors said the bullet entered Chiffon's stomach, lodged near the spine and could not be removed.

The state's attorney said Chiffon left a nightclub in Central City just north of here about 1 a. m. Central City police Chief Martin Beck said Chiffon was a member of a five-man hunting party en route from Chicago to southern Illinois. The police chief said Chiffon and an unidentified man were in the 51 Club when a black Cadillac drove up and two men sent in word for the other two men to go outside. Chiffon went but the other Tulane, Duke 13 over Wake Forest, Maryland 19 over Clemson and West Virginia 19 over William & Mary.

Southwest: Rice is seven over Texas A&M and Oklahoma A&M, 19 over Kansas.

Police said they admitted burglaries in St. Clair, Monroe, Randolph, Macoupin, Union and Clinton counties in Illinois and Cape Girardeau county in Missouri.

Locals Win Undisputed Second Place in South Seven Conference

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs ended their season in undisputed possession of second place behind Centralia in the South Seven conference football race by upsetting the Benton Rangers, 12 to 7, before a huge holiday gathering at Taylor Field yesterday afternoon.

The victory of Coach Lawrence Caluffetti's boys gave them a mark of four wins, one loss and one tie in the loop race, the only team besides unbeaten Centralia to have but one defeat.

Benton came to town for the encounter with four wins and a loss in the conference and the single defeat for overall competition this year. But superior play on the part of the Bull Dogs sent the Rangers home with their second defeat of the season.

Hold Benton Attack

The difference was the defensive line play of the locals, who contained the Benton attack all afternoon except on one occasion, when Carroll Sanders, Benton's big swift-running back, got away on a 50-yard touchdown run to put the rangers ahead.

Sanders scored from the mid-field stripe on the first play of the second quarter. He smashed into the left side of his line, sid off a tackler, then ran wide to his left to get ahead of everybody. Joe Atterberry came in to kick the extra point and Benton led, 7 to 0.

However, Charles Polk scored for Harrisburg on a quarterback sneak in the same period and Tony Beal passed to Gary Trammel in the final quarter to give the locals the margin they needed for victory.

Full Hidden-Ball Trick

Harrisburg had a big edge in the statistics. They made 12 first downs, eight in the first half, and accumulated a total net 282 yards from scrimmage. They made a net 186 yards rushing and 66 yards passing. Completed were five of seven passes thrown for the 66 yards. The locals were penalized 30 yards.

Benton, on the other hand, was rendered impotent by the fast-charging Harrisburg line. The Rangers made but two first downs, none coming the last half, and had a total 104 net yards from scrimmage. This was accomplished by making 76 yards rushing, 50 of them coming on the touchdown play, and 28 yards passing. The Rangers completed three of eight passes for 28 yards. Penalties totaled 25 yards.

Harrisburg took the opening kickoff and after a one-yard gain from the T-formation, never used by the locals at all this year, the Bull Dogs pulled a hidden ball trick that took them deep into Ranger territory. Gary Trammel faked a couple of handoffs with the ball hidden, then took off for a 53-yard jaunt to the B-26. But the locals could move no further. A few minutes later they moved to the B-25 but a fumble there gave the B-25 to Benton.

Polk Scores

There were no more threats the first quarter but on the first play of the second period Sanders made his jaunt and Atterberry his kick to give Benton a 7-0 lead.

Harrisburg moved following the next kickoff, making four straight first downs as they moved to the B-3, where the Bull Dogs lost the ball on downs. Featuring this drive was an 18-yard run by Jack Wright and two passes, Tony Beal to Eddie Seright, for 14 and 15 yard gains.

But the local tally came minutes later after Benton punted out to the 25. Trammel was roughed after gaining three yards and Harrisburg had the ball on the B-7. Beal made four, Trammel one and then Polk sneaked over from the B-2 for the touchdown. A pass for extra point failed.

Recover Fumble

Benton never threatened except in the closing seconds during the entire second half. The Bull Dogs started their second touchdown drive late in the third quarter after Polk ran a punt to the B-30. Trammel made two yards and Polk passed to Jim Williams for three to the B-25 as the quarter ended 7-6.

A five-yard offside penalty against Harrisburg put the ball back on the 30 and from there Beal passed to Williams for a 21-yard gain. However, Williams was hit hard after taking a couple of steps and fumbled. A Benton man tried to pick the ball up and fumbled it around and Seright recovered for Harrisburg on the B-9. Beal smashed on a fumble, lost back to the 9. Wright then lost 4 to the 13 and on last down Beal passed to Trammel in the flat, who caught the ball low, juggled it a bit, then took off into the end zone. Again a pass for extra point was incomplete but Harrisburg had a 12 to 7 lead.

Nip and Tuck Battle

The rest of the battle was nip and tuck, as Benton tried desperately to score on passes, and a short punt by Harrisburg on the last play of the game was run back by Sanders to the H-20 as the game ended.

The contest, which many anticipated might be a rough-and-tumble affair, was clean although hard-fought all the way and after the game was over Benton Coach Ralph Davison, former HTHS mentor, congratulated members of the Bull Dog team for their good play.

Coach Caluffetti depended on his fighting iron men to beat Benton. Ends Seright and Williams tackled Fred Kinnaman, Guards Jim Durham and Jack Dale, Center Ronnie Williams. Fullback Beal and Halfback Trammel played the entire game except that Durham went out with an injury on the last play of the contest. Richard Hess was in at all times on defense and Fred McKenzie played more than half the contest, chiefly on defense but at halfback on offense when Jack Wright was injured. Others who saw action were Everett Evans, Wayman Hefner and Jay Waite. That was all.

Band Performs

Wright carried the ball a net 38 yards in eight tries for a 4.7 average. Beal carried a net 59 yards in 16 tries for a 3.7 average. Trammel carried a net 73 yards in 20 carries for a 3.6 average and Polk's 16 yards in five carries gave him 3.2.

Benton Coach Ralph Davison started Danny Bain and Don Seibert at ends, Louis Neve and Gerson Owens at tackles, Jim Wilkerson and Jim Lynch at guards, Don South at center, Phil Southern at quarterback, Carroll Sanders and Charles McKemie at halfbacks and Don Dillon at fullback.

Officials were Ernie Driggers and A. W. Boussein of Mt. Vernon and Ted Search of Chester.

The HTHS band staged a magnificent Veterans Day performance at halftime. After forming the B for Benton and playing "Thumbs Up, U. S. A.," they formed an airplane and played "Army Air Corps" march, formed a battleship and played "Anchors Aweigh," and formed a cannon and played "U. S. Field Artillery" march. They finished the program with the H for Harrisburg and Harrisburg Loyalty.

Study Eligibility Of Army Halfback Tommy Bell

WEST POINT, N. Y. — The eligibility of halfback Tommy Bell, who is playing his fifth season of football for Army, is under study by the Eastern College Athletic Conference, an Army official said today.

Bell, a key member of the West Point team currently rated the nation's sixth best college team by the United Press Board of Coaches played one season of plebe freshman football and is in his fourth season on the varsity, said Lt. Col. James Schwenk, Army's graduate manager of athletics.

But Army believes that Bell is exempted from the ECAC rule limiting a player to four years of college play, Colonel Schwenk declared.

"The Military Academy is granted certain exemptions to the five-year rule in the eligibility code of the ECAC," said Colonel Schwenk. "Those exemptions were only defined during the last year and we feel that they were not defined too clearly."

Colonel Schwenk said that Bell, whose home is in New York City, played on Army's plebe team in 1950. Failure in one of his subjects forced him to repeat his entire plebe year in 1951. In 1951, because of the Korean war, the ECAC allowed freshmen to play on varsity teams. So Bell played on the Army varsity teams of 1951, '52, and '53, and is again on the varsity this season.

Centralia Wins South 7 Title

Carbondale Trips Murphysboro, 14-7, In Holiday Upset

SPRINGFIELD — Centralia, Arcola and Lawrenceville were undisputed conference crowns today as a result of Veterans day activity on Illinois high school grids.

Centralia didn't have to lift a finger Thursday to come off with sole possession of the South Seven title. Benton, in second place before yesterday's game, the only team that had a chance to tie Centralia, was spanked 12-7 by Harrisburg.

Arcola wrapped up a perfect season with a 31-14 victory over Tuscola, a win that gave Arcola the Okaw Valley crown. Arcola finished with nine wins and no losses this season.

Carbondale staged the holiday's biggest upset by tripping tough Murphysboro, 14-7. It was Murphysboro's first loss in Southwestern Egyptian Conference play this season.

Chester took advantage of its big opportunity, smothering Sparta 24-0 to tie Murphysboro for first place in the Southwestern Egyptian. Murphysboro and Chester each have four wins, one loss and a tie.

Lawrenceville's Indians won North Egypt Conference laurels, rapping Bridgeport 28-6. It was the eighth win for the Indians in one games.

Mount Olive scored twice in the second half to beat Staunton 13-6 and tie Gillespie for the South Central Conference crown.

REPORTS FROM THE ORIENT: U. S. Position in Asia Is Near Bankruptcy

By FRED SPARKS

NEA Staff Correspondent

TOKYO—(NEA)—We must face this terrible truth: The U. S. position in the Orient is near bankruptcy.

Our prestige is nearly as low as it was that Sunday 13 years ago when Nippon's carrier pilots caught our fleet napping at Pearl Harbor.

While appeasing Europeans and ambitious Orientals seek recognition (and business contracts) in the broadened halls of Peiping, Free Asia is fearful and disorganized.

From the camel hair tents of Afghanistan to the slowly freezing paddies of Korea, men who want to live in freedom under their particular Gods are losing faith in their American friends.

Today Free Asia sits like a stone Buddha awaiting (what seems like) the inevitable domination of all these ancient lands by the new Khan who spikes his jasmine tea with heady Russian vodka.

On returning to the Orient after a State-side refresher this correspondent finds clouds of defeatism. As I speak to our frustrated military leaders, read the Japanese press—now almost entirely anti-American—note discouraged reports from South Vietnam, Burma, Siam, Formosa—I look over the gray solitude of Hirohito's Palace and think back nine years.

Douglas MacArthur had entered Tokyo with quiet dignity to begin his successful occupation. Outside the Palace moat, whose placid frolics of imperial carp, stood a guard of lean Pacific veterans.

A billion brown and yellow people watched Washington for the moral and physical initiative to lead them to a better way of life. Great progress was being made.

Then, like a series of paralytic strokes, came the succession of disasters. China fell to Soviet imperialism; India began its anti-American "neutrality"; we failed to win the war in Korea; despite lofty assurances North Indo-China was handed to dictatorship. Since Geneva there has been no strong plan to block further Chinese advances.

"Free Asia has not lost face," said a wise Japanese friend, "it has lost its head. Like a decapitated chicken it runs in all directions."

Asians, living in an overcrowded world where the slightest whim of nature—a flood, a drought—starves millions, are as realistic as brass knuckles. They have seen the mighty White Man humbled; have seen more people brought under thought control than at Tojo's peak. Through fear—not love—they are turning to Peiping in a stuporous "squads left."

It is for historians, working with today's documents and tomorrow's confessions, to understand how nine years brought democracy from total victory to the edge of total defeat.

A reporter must not conceal gloom—like a politician—under an electric blanket of high voltage oratory. Here, then, is a glance at some of Asia's most contested lands:

KOREA: The U. S.—beloved liberator of 1945—is daily branded cowardly by President Rhee, furious because the 8th Army is sending soldiers home—not toward the Yalu River.

Rhee bitterly bargains for more guns; the Pentagon rations him just enough for defense. In Seoul GIs say: "On your day off you can go to a movie, a beer hall—or an anti-American demonstration."

FORMOSA: Here we also have worries with an ally anxious to shoot—but who needs our bullets. Morale has slumped as Washington, pressured by London, can't make up its mind. One day Nationalists are urged to raid Red China—the next they're warned not to provoke the giant.

An American officer, training Nationalists for four years, sighs: "They're as stale as a boxer who never punches anything but a bag."

JAPAN: Since MacArthur, who temporarily replaced Hirohito as Sun God, was suddenly sacked and American might was stalled in Korea, the Japanese think we have the political brains of a 400-pound sumo wrestler. The feeling is that America having failed, Nippon will again have to straighten out Asia... if given time.

Although anti-Communist, Tokyo merchants are wooing Red Chinese customers at lavish dinners with butterfly shrimp and Geisha girls. American baiting is a popular sport, and our H-Bomb tests are blamed for everything from the high price of saki to measles in Kobe.

RED CHINA: From London and New Delhi—not to mention Moscow and Prague—statesmen pour into Peiping to further inflate the cunning band who in six years moved from guerrilla caves to perfumed Mandarin shrines.

Dictator Mao's blasts about UN membership fool nobody in the rice belt. It's a minor problem for Red China, now fat with conquests, now educating gigantic fifth columns to flatten other neighbors.

Hope is fast flickering for millions inside Red China, led to believe by insane propaganda that freedom was nearing. In the last war a Frenchman commented: "When you're waiting to be liberated each day has 48 hours."

THE PHILIPPINES: Manila still laughs at the recently signed Allied pact which has the teeth of a 98-year old woman. The Filipinos, pro-American to the last water buffalo, realize an Asian pact including France and Britain—hated colonial powers—has the political sex appeal of a gallow.

Japan, South Korea, Formosa, countries, with sufficient manpower to clobber communism, are excluded from "The Club" because they aren't popular with Her Britannic Majesty's Government. Once again, Europe's politics dictate Asia's future.

SOUTH INDO-CHINA: With refugees from Red occupied Hanoi jamming the streets—and aristocrats selling their trained elephants for one-third the cost—Saigon sings the blues. Rickshaw boys and Foreign Legionnaires are equally convinced the Communists will inch south. Who has the will to oppose them?

Last spring Washington led many to believe it was coming to the rescue like a movie cowboy. Now citizens have as much faith in the U. S. as they have in Emperor Bao Dai, who has four eggs for breakfast and two blondes for dinner on the French Riviera—and won't come home.

THAILAND: Siamese pugilists are allowed to kick below the belt—and this country expects the same kind of treatment from the Reds, now sitting in neighboring Indo-China.

Our new military policy—which surely excludes meeting invasion on Asia's mainland—makes Bangkok feel as comfortable as a man trying to stop a flood with a desk blotter.

CONCLUSION: As long as one Free Asian is willing to fight there is hope. But any ward politician knows: You can't beat somebody with nobody.

A genuine coalition is needed, an inspiration, a gloom killer.

Red China is organized down to children's chopsticks and plodding, plodding forward with an order book in one hand and a whip in the other.

Unrealistic Plan

Editorial — By BRUCE BLOSSAT
India's revulsion over the prospect of a war fought with annihilating nuclear weapons is shared by all men of good will. But India's proposal for an arms truce pending conclusion of a disarmament treaty is totally unrealistic, and has been properly rejected in the United Nations.

The Indian plan would not even have allowed use of A- or H-bombs to repel aggression. The Indian representatives sought complete prohibition of such weapons.

The flaw in this arrangement should be obvious, even to the Indians. Not the use, but the threat of atomic weapons by the United States is acknowledged to be a principal deterrent to Soviet aggression.

That threat strikes home in the Kremlin only because of the superiority we have long enjoyed over Russia both in numbers and kinds of nuclear weapons. Should we at any time interrupt the production that is giving us this margin, then our leverage for peace — and the whole West's — would quickly be weakened.

The recent disclosure that Russia is conducting another series of atomic tests is a pointed reminder that Soviet leaders have been bending all effort to close that gap.

One might argue that an armament truce would also interrupt Russian production. But that presupposes an ironclad system of arms inspection that would allow international representatives to check on output within the Soviet Union. The Russians have refused to countenance such a system in any and all disarmament discussions.

So the only truce Russia would agree to would be one weak on inspection, which would leave the Communists relatively free to go on closing the atomic gap, while our great deterrent force would be frozen.

Furthermore, such a truce would ignore the fact that Russia possesses a great preponderance of strength in land armies. These presumably would be held in being despite the arms ban, and would contribute heavily to a shift of power toward the Soviet orbit.

Any armament plan, whether intermediate truce or permanent disarmament treaty, can have no meaning whatsoever without adequate enforcement provisions. The Indians have taken part in world councils long enough now to appreciate that a proposal offered without those checks is wasted breath.

If India's leaders ever have any realistic moments, they must have some understanding of how fortunate they are that America does indeed enjoy so marked an advantage in nuclear armament. For otherwise they might long since have found the unwelcome Red visitor on their doorstep.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS: Alleged Democrat From South Carolina May Upset Democratic Margin In Senate; New U. S. Citizens Welcomed By Patriotic Americans; Eisenhower Appointees Inject Politics In Railroad Pension Picture.

WASHINGTON—The Democrats may have a harder time keeping their hairbreadth majority in the Senate than anyone realizes.

When the Senate reconvened for the special McCarthy censure session, Charles E. Daniel, interim Democratic senator from South Carolina, a close friend of Ike's friend, Jimmie Byrnes, was having his picture taken with Vice President Nixon.

"I want you to know," he beamed, "that you can count on me. I want to work with you in every way possible."

"And the man who's coming up to succeed me is the same way," he added, referring to Senator-elect Strom Thurmond. "You can work with him, too."

"That's fine," enthused Nixon. "When he comes, you send him around to me. We'll give him a royal welcome."

NEW CITIZENS
Two hundred and fifty new American citizens gathered in the interdepartment auditorium in Washington today to take what for them is a momentous oath. To millions of others it will pass by unnoticed. But to these 250, plus other groups around the U. S. A., it will be one of their most important steps since birth.

For they will renounce their allegiance to one country and take an oath of allegiance to a new. Today they become citizens of the United States.

This ceremony takes place about once a month without much notice Americans paying much attention to it. In New York today, 8,000 new citizens take the oath; other groups in other cities.

And while it will attract no headlines, the Women's Bar Association, the Advertising Council, the Sertoma clubs, and other public-spirited organizations are cooperating to solemnify the occasion and welcome these new Americans.

Today, for instance, the Advertising Council in Washington will present each new citizen with Arthur Goodfriend's stirring book "What Is America?" while the Sertoma club (Service To Mankind) will present copies of the Declaration of Independence. Unfortunately, funds were not available to make a similar presentation to the 8,000 taking the oath of citizenship in New York.

On previous occasions, the DAR, B'Nai B'Rith and other groups have entertained the new citizens at small receptions immediately after the naturalization ceremony in a quiet, unpublicized, constructive type of citizenship which will prevent communism far more than the witch-hunting scaremongers of Joe McCarthy.

STEVENSON'S GRANDFATHER
Adlai Stevenson seldom refers to his grandfather, who was vice president of the United States in the administration of Grover Cleveland. But the other day Adlai and advisers were in ex-Sen. William Benton's suite at the Savoy Plaza Hotel in New York when they received a telegram from Vice President Nixon demanding that Adlai retract his statement that Nixon was following the Communist party line.

Advisers offered Stevenson all sorts of suggestions for a reply to the man the Democrats now call "McNixon." Finally Stevenson said:

"Well, I suppose I could reply as follows: 'Dear Mr. Nixon: I have now received two telegrams from the vice president of the United States. The first was from my grandfather. Sincerely yours, Adlai Stevenson.'"

He did not, however, send the telegram.

POLITICS WITH R. R. MONEY
One of the first investigations when the Democrats take over Congress will dig into politicking inside the Railroad Retirement Board by two Eisenhower appointees.

The R. R. Board was set up to administrate the pensions of railroad workers and is operated by the money withdrawn each week from railroad workmen's salaries. It is not a political organization. However, after Eisenhower appointed as new chairman, Raymond J. Kelly of Chicago, former Michigan commander of the American Legion, things began to change. He was followed by Frank C. Squire, another Chicagoan, and together they have proposed removing 10 administrative posts from Civil Service to make room for worthy Republicans.

As an excuse for this political gravy, the rumor has been spread that there is a "cell of 10 known Communists in the Railroad Retirement Board office."

Chief spreader of the rumor is Harold Rainville, listed as "special assistant" to Senator Dirksen of Illinois, though he actually works for the Republican committee for the re-election of senators, also does public relations work from the favored position. It was Rainville who was permitted by Senator McCarthy to help cross-examine Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker in secret session when he, Rainville, represented no senator and had no more right to cross-examination than a newsman. This is one of the McCarthy issues now before the Senate for censure.

The fact that Rainville and his two Chicago friends, Kelly and Squire, now want to gut the Railroad Retirement Board for worthy Republicans will not only be probed by Democrats, but quite a few Republicans will help the investigation.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE
It took 50 pounds of Johnson's wax to weatherproof the famed Iwo Jima statue unveiled at the Marine Corps' anniversary yesterday. The statue will have to be re-waxed every five years, but sculptor Felix De Weldon has found it's the best way to preserve statuary.

Gov. Goody Knight's friends in California are talking about him for President. They label him "the nation's outstanding victorious Republican." There's good reason to believe that if Senator McCarthy had jumped on some other Republican the way he did Clifford Case of New Jersey, they might have won. Unquestionably McCarthy's attack helped Case. Maybe Ferguson of Michigan, Cooper of Kentucky and Cordon of Oregon would have pulled through had Joe hurled a few barbs in their direction. Biggest testimonial dinner in history from the point of view of cash raised was held to salute to Col. Jack Arvey in the Conrad Hilton hotel, Chicago, this week. Twenty-two hundred guests each paid $1,000—a total take of almost a quarter of a million. C. J. Jackson, former White House braintruster, refers to John Foster Dulles as "the soft underbelly of the Eisenhower administration." It used to be C. D. Jackson's job to "orchestrate the administration's output" (keep cabinet members from talking at cross-purposes). When Dulles flies to Europe he always stops for a swim at Bermuda. When he said good-bye to Chancellor Adenauer of Germany the other day, Dulles' last advice was: "Be sure to get a good swim in Bermuda."

N. Y. Thruway Bars Unfit Automobiles

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — Bare tires, a bad steering mechanism and a generally "haphazard" condition of a Syracuse motorist's automobile were sufficient to have it quarantined from the State Thruway.

The official thruway auto service towed the car from the highway at the owner's expense after a state trooper served him with a summons for inadequate steering mechanism.

Trooper Stanley D. Rayton said regulations provide that any vehicles deemed unfit for use on the road may be barred.

By Williams Soap and Water Work Wonders on Furniture

NEW YORK — Soap and water are good for the complexion — of furniture.

The shabby look of tables, chairs and other polished pieces, could be nothing more than a collection of dirt from coat after coat of polish or wax applied to a dusty surface. Experts say suds often will restore the woods to their original sheen.

To clean a polished wood surface, mix a bowl of thick, warm soap suds. Then pick up a generous portion of surface suds on a damp cloth or sponge and rub firmly over a small section of the wood, working with the grain. Rinse with a cloth wrung out of warm water, and dry with a soft, lintless cloth. Repeat in sections until the whole surface has been scrubbed. A second or third treatment, with fresh suds each time, may be necessary. Once the wood is completely dry, apply a coat of polish or wax.

Happy Unionists Also Like Bosses

ITHACA, N. Y. — Workers who like their unions usually like their bosses too, a Cornell researcher says.

After Dr. Lois R. Dean studied three New York factories, she suggested that most of the workers who support a union are satisfied — not dissatisfied — with their employers.

She added that workers who appreciate good leadership will give loyalty to both sides.

"Standard Premium's De-Icer additive prevents stalling caused by carburetor icing. At this time of year that's important."

At temperatures from 58° to 28°, ice frequently forms on the throttle plate of the carburetor, shutting off the fuel mixture during idling. Bees' Royal Jelly Gets Scientific Investigation

ITHACA, N. Y. —(UP)— Cornell University wants to know if royal jelly is as good for people as it is for bees.

The university has set up 40 bee cages on the campus and is slowly scraping out the royal jelly — a sticky chemical that nurse bees make and queen bees eat. Cornell's biologists want to learn if royal jelly really cures diseases and spruces up the skin — claims that have been made for it. So far, say the scientists, there is no "reliable and conclusive research" that backs up these claims, and there won't be any for many months. The experiments will take time.

FORD'S LONGER, LOWER BODY STYLE and wrap-around windshield, available on all models, is shown above in the Fairlane four-door sedan. The '55 Fords are available with V-Block V-8 or I-Block Six power, and Fairlane models have dual exhaust as standard equipment. They will be introduced by Ford dealers today.

Ford Introduces New Fairlane Series in Showrooms Across Nation Starting Today

Ford today introduced an entirely new line—the high-styled Fairlane series—as the leader of its four lines of 1955 passenger cars shown in 6400 dealers' showrooms across the nation.

Modern styling inspired by Ford's new Thunderbird personal car distinguishes the new Fords. The 1955 Fords have a wrap-around windshield and a new, lower silhouette. The Crown Victoria—a new model—is the first Ford sedan under five feet in over-all height.

Ford, which offered the first V-8 engine in the low price field in 1932 and has built 14 million V-8's since, introduces for the first time three new engines:

A high compression Y-block V-8 engine of 272 cubic inch displacement and an 8.5 to 1 compression ratio.

A Y-block V-8 engine of 272 cubic inch displacement and a 7.6 to 1 compression ratio.

An improved 6 cylinder I-block engine of 223 cubic inch displacement and a 7.5 to 1 compression ratio.

Dual exhausts, which provide extra power, are standard on all Fairlane V-8 and station wagon models.

Ford's new high compression engine available only with Fordomatic transmission in the Fairlane series, has a four-barrel carburetor with automatic choke and special intake manifold; special vacuum controlled distributor; high compression cylinder heads and high capacity radiator. Ford's popular V-8 and 6 cylinder engines are available with any of the 16 Ford models for 1955.

Ford is introducing a new integrated air conditioning and heating system with its 1955 models. This system will be dealer installed. "Ford's new cars," Mr. Cruse said, "are notable for new 'Trigger-torque' power which gives greatly increased responsiveness in driving range and better maneuverability and flexibility in traffic. A 44 foot-pound increase in torque in the V-8 engine provides faster starts at lower speed and also extra power for safer passing at higher speeds. This is part of a balanced combination of horsepower, torque, transmission and rear axle ratio which also gives greater gasoline economy."

The new Ford Fairlane series, named after the home of the late Henry Ford, includes a completely new styling idea—the Crown Victoria model. This car has an arch of chrome over the top like a tiara. It also is available with a transparent plastic roof over the driver's compartment.

New upholstery fabrics, many developed especially for the 1955 Fords, are available in a broad selection of colors and patterns.

Weather, Economics Figure
In Falling Farm Income

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Analyzing the farm belt discontent that has been such a disturbing factor in this year's political campaign shows much of the farmers' uneasiness to be based more on fears for the future than on present actual hurt.

Such reduced income as farmers are receiving this year cannot accurately be blamed on political causes. The drop in farm income is due more to bad weather and the natural economic causes of over-supply and reduced demand than to any across-the-board curtailment of government farm aid programs.

The exception to this is dairy products. Here the Republican administration did arbitrarily cut price support levels from 90 to 75 per cent of parity. But this was done only after Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson had given the dairy industry leaders nearly a year to come up with an alternative plan, which they failed to do.

For the basic farm commodities, support prices have remained at 90 per cent of parity on this year's crops. The fact that average corn, cotton, wheat, rice and peanut prices have fallen below parity this year must therefore be blamed on other causes than anything done by the last Congress.

THIS SAME SITUATION will be largely true for the 1955 crops. On the three principal crops, it is now indicated that cotton will remain under 90 per cent of parity price support, corn may drop to 88 per cent and wheat to 82 1-2 per cent.

Reports from Department of Agriculture field men indicate that these cuts are not considered serious by corn and wheat men. Even if such declines were considered serious, it is doubtful if the new Congress, meeting in January, could act fast enough to change the support levels before planting time on the 1955 crops.

Changes could be made by Congress on support levels for the 1956 crops. But these crops are not harvested until the latter half of the year. An appreciable gain to the farmer from higher price support levels might not reach his pocket-book to have much influence as a political factor in the 1956 elections. It is therefore the uncertainty over what may happen to farm price supports in 1956, '57 and '58 which is at the root of present farm belt discontent.

THE FARM BILL PASSED by the last Congress provides for a gradual shift to a new parity formula. Parity is the ratio between the things the farmer has to buy and what he sells. A principal gripe of farmers has been that the prices of the things he buys—his farm costs—have been going up while the prices he gets for his crops have been going down.

To remedy this, the new parity formula will be based on average prices of the most recent ten years. The base period will thus change every year. The old parity formula was based on fixed 1910-14 price averages.

Congress provided, however, that this shift to the new parity formula and a change to a flexible, 75-to-90 per cent of parity for price supports on basic crops could be made no faster than 5 per cent a year.

Dropping from 90 to 75 per cent of parity price supports might therefore be accomplished in three years—or by 1958.

If the farm belt pressure next year is strong enough, Congress might set aside the new parity formula and this future shift to a flexible price support system by simple legislative action.

IF THIS DOES HAPPEN, it will leave the real farm issue to be fought out, probably in the 1956 presidential election campaign. There is a fundamental difference in philosophy between the two major political parties on this issue.

The Republican theory is to put price support levels just high enough to let farmers avoid disaster in years of oversupply. The Democratic theory is to keep support levels high in the belief that this will maintain a prosperous agriculture.

One other facet to this coming farm policy fight is that neither party has as yet come up with a satisfactory formula for supporting the prices of perishable commodities in any way that makes sense.

Before Jan. 3, Secretary Benson must report to Congress some new plan on how these dairy products, at least, may be handled.
